The rejections over Hirayama et al. are hereby withdrawn because Applicants' foreign priority claim has now been perfected. However, in the course of conducting an updated/modified survey of the prior art, another reference germane to the remaining claims was discovered. The Examiner sincerely regrets that Applicant had not been afforded the opportunity to address this rejection earlier.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(a) the invention was known or used by others in this country, or patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country, before the invention thereof by the applicant for a patent.

Claims 13-14 and 16-17 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(a) as being anticipated by Tasaka, JP 2002-248714 A. Tasaka describes a multi-layered sheet comprising one layer containing polyphenylene ether and a second layer containing a blend of polyphenylene ether and elastomer.

Claims 13-14 are product-by-process claims. As Applicant is almost certainly aware, "even though product-by-process claims are limited by and defined by the process, determination of patentability is based on the product itself. The patentability of a product does not depend on its method of production. If the product in the product-by-process claim is the same as or obvious from a product of the prior art, the claim is unpatentable even though the prior product was made by a different process" In re Thorpe, 777 F.2d 695, 698, 227 USPQ 964, 966 (Fed. Cir. 1985). Whereas the sheet of the prior art is manufactured by co-extrusion, the reference does not expressly define the specific extrusion technique. Nevertheless, there appears to be nothing distinguishing the claimed film from the prior art film, the possible employment of a different extrusion process notwithstanding.

Allowable Subject Matter

Claims 10-12 and 15 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims. Claim 18 is allowable.

Concerning claim 15, a surface containing polyphenylene oxide (PPO) alone has a water contact angle, at 75°, smaller than that mandated of claim 15. As for the other surface obtained from a blend of PPO and styrene-butadiene copolymer, the Examiner was unable to find any data revealing the water-contact angle of an article obtained from a comparable blend thus it was concluded that a holding of inherency would be inappropriate.

Claim 18 is allowable.
